

Pediatric Epilepsy and Neuro Specialties

Ammar Hussain, MD

Board-Certified Pediatric Neurologist

AdventHealthMedicalGroup.com

Ammar Hussain, MD, is board certified in neurology and psychiatry, with a special qualification in pediatric neurology. He specializes in helping patients with medically intractable epilepsy, seizures, and other neurological disorders. His outstanding credentials include his medical degree from King Edward Medical University in Lahore, Pakistan. Dr. Hussain completed his pediatric neurology residency and advanced fellowship training in epilepsy at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, VA. He formerly served as an assistant professor in the Department of Neurology/Division of Pediatric Neurology at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine in Chapel Hill. Dr. Hussain is a member of the American Epilepsy Society and the American Academy of Neurology.

PROFILE

-
-
- Fellowship, Epilepsy, Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, VA
 - Residency, Pediatric Neurology, Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, VA
 - Medical Degree, King Edward Medical University, Lahore, Pakistan

SPECIALTIES

- Brain development
- Drug-resistant epilepsy
- Epilepsy associated with metabolic or genetic disorders
- Epilepsy research and clinical trials
- Pediatric epileptic conditions and syndromes
- Seizure disorders

615 East Princeton Street, Suite 540 | Orlando, FL 32803
407-303-8127 | 407-303-8197 FAX

20-AHMG-00820